Course Design
• online only (Outreach College)
• hybrid course design
Hybrid Courses

• They bring students together only where/when needed, allowing them to self study otherwise

• Probably the best instructional delivery solution
Hybrid Courses

• blend face-to-face interaction such as in-class discussions, active group work, and live lectures with typically web-based educational technologies such as online course cartridges, assignments, discussion boards, and other web-assisted learning tools.
How to blend?
Ingredients

• Texts (oral, written) pref. (semi)-authentic
• Exercises (cloze, m/ch, gap fill, crossword,)
• Electronic Flashcards & Anki
• WAU etc.

J. Brown, Woodford & Wheeler International Cultural Consultants, Inc.

❝ The materials in The Indonesian Way and the supporting materials and technologies are most definitely the exception, creating multiple mediums of instruction and reinforcement in the most cohesive manner I have yet experienced. If one is a fan of holistic learning models, then one must love this bundle of materials as it is the greatest example of such I have yet seen. ❞

❝ In terms of the content and pedagogical utility, I must say that The Indonesian Way is the single most successful online textbook I have yet encountered. ❞

❝ The opportunities for learning and reinforcement are simply astounding, and quite frankly go far beyond what I have seen in any online textbook in the past. Even expensive off-the-shelf software such as The Rosetta Stone have not achieved the mix of practical language instruction with the various modalities that The Indonesian Way offers. ❞

❝ The Indonesian Way has achieved what other online textbooks have not in my experience—a cohesive and effective use of appropriate technologies. ❞
